THE HISTORY

OF A

GREAT COLLECTION.

The work of August Edouart, the brilliant French Silhouettist, is well known to connoisseurs. Practising his art chiefly in the British Isles and in America, he has left behind him the most remarkable series of authentic pictorial documents which has ever been bequeathed to the world.

Not only did this painstaking artist write on every portrait the full name of his sitter, date, when taken, home address, and place where taken, but he frequently pasted cuttings from contemporary news-sheets in his reference folios.

Edouart cut each portrait in duplicate from folded black paper. Placing one of the originals in a folio, he added the name of his sitter, date, and place where taken, just as a modern photographer keeps his negatives for reference; he used his volumes also for exhibition purposes. Edouart thus accumulated an enormous number of interesting portraits, not only of Kings and Princes, such as those beautiful portraits taken by him at Holyrood Palace in 1831, but of the "landed gentry and aristocracy," who's houses he visited, and also the humbler folk who thronged his studio when he worked in a town or village. These latter portraits are often of great value to the descendants on account of the rarity of other pictorial records, as well as the perfect accuracy of the likeness.

After 13 years work in England, Scotland and Ireland (5000 of these original portraits are available with separate catalogue), Edouart decided on a long wished for visit to America.

We know from old letters that Edouart had long contemplated a visit to America. In 1839 he arrived in New York, and staying at 114, Broadway, whence many of his portraits are dated, he formed that collection of portraits of presidents, statesmen, men of letters, journalists, actors, and their wives and families, which enables the Americans of to-day to see the ancestors in which they sometimes take so passionate an interest.

In 1849 he started home on the ship Oneida, laden with cotton from Maryland, and with twenty-five passengers. A storm wrecked the vessel in Vazon Bay, off the coast of Guernsey. No lives were lost, and part of the baggage was saved, amongst it cases containing the English, Scottish, Irish and American collections.

Edouart was hospitably received by the Lukis family, resident on the island. Contemporary news-papers and letters, giving accounts of the storm, and of the old French artist and others who were saved, make interesting reading,

Thirty years ago the late Mr. Andrew Tuer, himself an expert and a collector, wrote of the enormous value of this mass of contemporary portraiture for genealogical research, should it ever be discovered. On completing the "History of Silhouettes," Mrs. Jackson put a small notice in the "Connoisseur Magazine," asking if owners of silhouette collections would allow her to examine all interesting examples, as her work depended entirely on original research for its completeness ; no other book on the subject had been published. Amongst the many answers from all parts of the world came the offer of the folio volumes, which the writer recognised at once as the long-lost reference folios of August Edouart. It was found that the owner was the son of Frederica Lukis, of Guernsey, to whom the artist had given his collection on his recovery from the illness and shock after the shipwreck. There is thus no flaw in the chain of authenticity in the history of this remarkable collection.

This Catalogue has been compiled of the American portraits and names and dates, and often the home towns of the sitters are given. Photo facsimilies can be obtained, price £1 10s. each, from Mrs. Nevill Jackson, taken from the original cuttings once in her possession, now no longer available.

There should be in every Museum and Reference Library in America, this complete pictorial record as shown in these lists, all ancestors of the American nation while it is obtainable in its entirety, price £800, in facsimilie size, 7½ inches each figure : or £500 4½ inches each figure. Thus would the citizens of the United States possess in small bulk and accessible form—a dozen folio volumes—each containing about 350 contemporary portrait documents, of assured authenticity and individual dating, such as no other nation possesses.

Amongst those who have already availed themselves of the opportunity to obtain examples of Edouart's dated portraiture are the Trustees of our National Portrait Galleries in London, Edinburgh, and Dublin, the Directors of the Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris, the archivists of the Dominion Government at Ottawa, Canada, Perth, Australia, and very many citizens of the United States, while John Tyler, taken at White House in 1841, now hangs on the walls of the official residence at Washington after 80 years wandering romantic adventures by land and sea, 70 years complete disappearance and re-discovery. Our Ambassador Lord Bryce assisted me in the formalities of this presentation, for he himself possessed, at his old home in Ireland, Edouart's portraits of the Bryce ancestors.

By Mrs. F. NEVILL JACKSON

Author of

"HISTORY OF HAND-MADE LACE," "TOYS OF OTHER DAYS," Etc.

(Now out of print and rare—a few copies only available).

Price £5 0s. 0d. each. Containing over 500 Illustrations of every type of Shadow Portrait.

"Mrs. Jackson has compiled a most interesting and entertaining monograph. The illustrations are delightful."—Morning Post.

"The author has done well to gather up the threads of history concerning an art and handicraft long fallen into desuetude."—Standard.

"This is one of the most charming of the art books published recently. It is an interesting, well-written history of a fascinating kind of portraiture."—Irish Times.

"The author, by careful and painstaking research, has brought together a very considerable mass of information in regard to silhouettes and their makers."—Scotsman.

"I find this book, with its wonderful reproductions of really artistic silhouettes, a great joy."—The Sphere.

"Arranged methodically and conveniently for the use of those who desire to investigate the history of the Art. Very well reproduced.—Westminster Gazette.
